—Kentucky formerly couldn't be excelled as an apple producing State, but for some years past it has been falling, until now it seems to have no rank in this line. Missouri is a great apple producer, but the fruit, so said by former Kentuckians, now of that State, doesn't compare in taste with that they used to get here.

SIMPLY BREATHE IT

The pleasantest, most convenient and the only scientific method for the treatment and cure of catarrh is Hyomei. Simply put twenty drops of Hyomei in the inhaler that comes with every package and then breathe it a few minutes four times a day.

It seems remarkable that so simple a way of treating catarrh will effect a cure, but the most important discoveries of science have always been the simplest. By breathing Hyomei in this way every particle of air that enters the air passages of the head and throat and goes into the lungs is charged with a healing balsam that kills the germs and bacilli of catarrh and soothes and allays all irritation.

The first day's use of Hyomei will show a decided improvement and in a short time there will be no further trouble from catarrh. Its action is rapid and lasting.

You take no risk in buying Hyomei. A complete outfit costs $1.00, and if after using you can say that it is not helped you Clarke & Co. will return your money.

MYSERIOUS MURDER.

There is Evidence of Foul Play—Wisp of Mustache Hair Discovered Clutched in Victim's Hand May Give a Clew.

Bedford, Ind., Jan. 23.—The dead body of Sarah Schaeffer, Latin teacher at the high school, was found Friday morning by William Cook and his son-in-law, John Hendricks. Cook is a cabman and found the woman when he went to get his cab out of the shed. She was lying under the cab, and the earth around showed signs of a struggle for life. The body was well dressed. The face of the woman was lacerated, and her whole body was covered with mud and blood. The shed floor was a pool of blood. The woman's body, when found, was cold and stiff. The shed is located within 50 feet of the street.

It has developed that a wisp of mustache hair was found in the clutches of the victim and upon this clew the police and a number of private detectives are basing their investigation. Miss Schaeffer's umbrella was found open in a barn lot near the shed. A brick with which the wounds were inflicted has also been found covered with blood.

A Negro was said to have been seen near the alley where the assault was committed about the time that Miss Schaeffer left her boarding house. Bloodhounds have been given the scent, but could follow it not more than 50 yards from the place where the body was found. A whisky bottle coming from a saloon in the city was found about 50 feet from the shed.

Evidence that Miss Schaeffer, the murdered girl, received two anonymous letters threatening her with punishment if she did not change her boarding place from the home of Dr. D. N. Nicholson has been disclosed. Miss Schaeffer subsequently changed her residence for fear that the threat might be carried out.

A dragnet is to be instituted throughout the surrounding country and all suspicious characters will be compelled to prove their whereabouts on the night of the murder.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 25.—A red-haired man was arrested by the police here Sunday and is being held awaiting instructions from the Bedford authorities. When found the suspected man was in a schoolhouse with another man taller than himself. The police suspecting robbery, approached, and the taller man fled. The man with the red hair, however, stood his ground, and, drawing a revolver, flourished it at Calef Johns, who, with Officer Hugh Hinkle, was making the arrest. They approached him and he offered no further resistance.

He gave his name as Tom Boyd, but declined to state anything about himself. He was told that he was suspected of the Bedford murder, but refused to say anything.

The cold wave extends over a wide area, embracing the Upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys and the western lake region. Particularly severe weather is reported in the Dakotas, Eastern Montana, Northeastern Nebraska, Northwestern Iowa, Northern Illinois and Indiana and portions of Wisconsin and Michigan.

The thermometer Sunday in this city registered 11 degrees below zero. There is suffering among the poor people and many of the homeless applied at the police stations for shelter. On one death, that of a fisherman, has so far been reported. The weather bureau observer says that it is possible that the mercury may go to 20 below Monday and that the cold wave will last several days yet.

At St. Paul Sunday the minimum on the official thermometer was 33 degrees below zero. Other thermometers registered as low as 40. Bismarck reported 28 and Superior, Wis., 36. Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 25.—Specials showed Wisconsin has had the coldest weather Sunday night of any state in the union. Oshkosh reports the coldest weather in 25 years, the registration being 28 below. A strong northwest wind is blowing.

LYNCHING AT GUTHRIE, KY.

Guthrie, Ky., Jan. 25.—Lewis Radford, a Negro, was lynched here at 6 o'clock Sunday night by a mob of from 30 to 40 Negroes. Radford was arrested Sunday morning, accused of killing Priscilla Fozell, also a Negro, Saturday night. Radford was seen in company with the Fozell woman about 8 o'clock Saturday night, going in the direction of the Standard Oil Co.'s yards, at this place. Radford confessed to having been in the woman's company Saturday night and of assaulting her, but denied to the last the act of killing her.

Marshal Burries employed John Dock, colored, to feed the prisoner, and Sunday night while he was in the jail corridor a mob rushed in and demanded the keys to Radford's cell. Dock refused at first to deliver the keys. The mob then gave him several blows on the head and drew their pistols. The keys were promptly delivered. Radford refused to leave the cell, and the mob began firing upon him, several shots taking effect. In all eight shots were fired. The prisoner was dragged, half-dead, to a tree a few yards from the jail door and was hanged to a limb.

Killed His Sister, Declaring He obeyed a Divine Behest.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Jan. 25.—Miss Hanah Hall, 30 years old, was murdered Sunday at her home in Vanburen by her brother, Isaac Hall, who gave himself up to the police. Hall, who is 33 years old, declares that he obeyed a Divine behest when he killed his sister. He attacked her while she was asleep, first shooting her, then dragging the wounded woman through the house, he cut her throat and finally placed her neck across a chopping block and completely severed the head from the body.

Hall and his sister lived alone, both parents being dead. Until this time Hall was considered a model farmer and his sister was a great favorite. Hall is religiously inclined and there is no doubt that he suddenly became insane.

A MOB OF COREANS.

Attacked Electric Car Owned by Americans.

The Car Was Partially Destroyed—Prompt Action of American Legation Guards Prevented Serious Riot—Situation Critical.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The state department Sunday received official information of attack Sunday by a mob of native Coreans on an electric car in Corea, the line being owned by Americans, because of the fact that it had killed a Corean. The news came in the following telegram, received under Sunday's date, from Minister Allen at Seoul:

"This morning on the electric railway, which is the property of American citizens, a Corean was accidentally and unavoidably killed. Thereupon on a mob of natives attacked and partially destroyed the car. The operators of the car would have been injured had it not been for the presence of mind and action of our guard, and serious riot would have occurred."

Although there have been previous reports of disturbances in Corea this is the first mob attack made thus far on property of Americans. The railroad is owned and operated by Americans, H. R. Bostwick, of San Francisco, and H. Colbran being its principal officers. It runs through the heart of Seoul, the Corean capital.

The guard which made the rescue came from the American legation. It consists of 100 marines, who were sent there some time ago to be on hand for the protection of Americans and their property. Reinforcement of this guard has been urged and could be made in a week's time by details of marines from the Philippines, but nothing has been decided on this point. Conditions in Corea are recognized to be critical, and the state department is keeping in close touch with the situation.

No fresh instructions have been sent as yet as a result of Sunday's mob at Corea.

The Corean legation has received no advices concerning the matter. The Corean government has notified its legation here that it has issued a formal declaration of neutrality as between Russia and Japan in the event of war, and Minister Min-Hui-Cho has formally advised the state department of this action.

GOV. TAFT ARRIVES.

He Immediately Took a Train For Washington.

The governor was met by a number of representative army and navy men and civil officials on the tug Golden Gate, to which the party was transferred after the Corea had reached the quarantine station. The tug carried its passengers to the Oakland mole, where Gov. Taft boarded the eastern overland train for Washington. On arriving at the capitol he will at once assume his duties as secretary of war.

THE BRITISH FLEET.

It is in Readiness to Move Within Five Minutes' Notice.

THE JUDGE AND THE LAWYERS.

His Honor Was There with a Good Hard Knock When the Opportunity Offered.

The judge had had his patience sorely tried by lawyers who wished to talk and by men who tried to evade jury service. Between hypothetical questions and excuses it seemed as if they never would get to the actual trial of the case. So when the puzzled little German who had been accepted by both sides jumped up the judge was exasperated, relates Elliott Flower, in the Brooklyn Eagle.

"Shudge!" cried the German.

"What is it?" demanded the judge.

"I think I like to go home to my wife," said the German.

"You can't," retorted the judge. "Sit down."

"But, Shudge," persisted the German,

"I don't think I make a good shnor."

"You're the best in the box," said the judge.

"The jury box," said the judge.

"No," said the judge; "the bad box is the prisoner's box."

"But, Shudge," persisted the little German,

"I don't speak good English."

"You won't have to speak any at all," said the judge. "Sit down."

The little German pointed at the lawyers to make his last desperate plea.

"Shudge," he said, "I can't make nods out of what those fellers say."

It was the judge's chance to get even for many annoyances.

"Neither can anyone else," he said. "Sit down."

With a sigh the little German sat down.

Notes and Suggestions for Those Who Keep Pace with the Newest in Dress.

One of the new skating jackets is fashioned on the lines of a Norfolk jacket.

For sleighing or automobiling in frosty weather nothing is more correct and comfortable than one of the long fur coats.

From England comes the word that gray is to be the correct hunting color, but in this country individual taste will probably present a variety of shades.

The latest bonbon cases represent Oxford ties in porcelain imitating patent leather, white suede and waterproof leather.

A new species of sandals has appeared for bedroom use. These novelties, which come in red and other bright colors, go by the very descriptive appellation of "scuppers."

With ermine hats pale blue and a touch of gold seems the favorite combination, and with sable or mink the violet shades of flowers and heavy cream of laces are most used.

Leather has an important part to play in many of the winter costumes. There are revers and bandings of leather on many of the chic suits and coats. French modistes are producing entire coats of leather.

WHY WE SHOULD WORK.

It Is the Natural Thing to Do While on the Other Hand Idleness Is Unnatural.

Work is activity in some phase of our life. Life is manifested in activity, and inactivity would be stagnation which would be fatal to life, says the American Queen.

In the universe wherever there is life there is activity. This is true in the vegetable, the animal and the human worlds. This activity is a necessity which runs through all organic life.

THE Curt Jett case has been set by the Court of Appeals for the April term.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is to be excused if he thinks the Hanna declination is suffering from a vexation indisposition.

TEN railroad presidents loafing around the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel told Perry Heath that they were for Hanna against Roosevelt.

THE city chemist of Milwaukee has discovered 96,000,000 bacteria on a $5 bill. The difficulty with the average man is to find the bill.

MR. HANNA's resolution not to be a candidate seems to belong to the same class as a lot of New Year resolutions we have heard about.

THE president says the Panama matter is "an accomplished fact." So is the "grafting" in the postal and public land departments, but that is no reason why the guilty parties should not be punished. —Commoner.

REPUBLICAN leaders are declaring that the same financial interest whose desires prove the wisdom of electing McKinley, prove the wisdom of electing Roosevelt by their opposition to him. Republican logic continues to wiggle around with a crimp in its spine.

MRS. ROOSEVELT may have all of the purity of statesmanship to which he modestly lays claim, but if justice were done he would have to make frequent journeys to the penitentiaries if he desired to see certain of the friends and counsellors by whom he is now most closely surrounded.—Louisville Times.

WHEN Wall street backed McKinley the g. o. p. editors told us that we should listen to the advice of Wall street. Now those same editors are telling us that the alleged opposition of Wall street to Roosevelt should be elected. The average Republican editor usually become so twisted in his argument that he collides with himself before he gets to the first turn.—W. J. Bryan.

ORAL ARGUMENT ORDERED.—Friday's Courier-Journal says: An oral argument was ordered by the court against the Commonwealth, and the full bench will hear it. The appeal is from the Franklin Circuit Court in an action by the State, through the Auditor, to collect and pay into the Treasury $16,000 which it is alleged was wrongfully paid out to the soldiers brought to Frankfort under W. S. Taylor.

50 CENTS PER QUART.—When you are in Paris don't fail to stop at Frank Salishin's and get the best 50-cent per quart whisky in town.

Good Spirits.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred-and-one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good spirits." Trial size, 25c; regular bottles, 75c. At my suggestion.—W. T. Brooks.

It seems very much like we will have a new Capitol at Frankfort. Nothing but the best is too good for us.

This has certainly been the "winter of our discontent." But then we have the satisfaction of knowing that "it will be summer time by-and-by."

OUR merchants all look forward to a good trade in the Spring. If you want good bargains and be protected in your purchases, trade with our home merchants.

Now that the country has found out how old Ann really is, it might try to figure out how old she will be when the President sends a trust magnate to the penitentiary.

AMONG a number of bills introduced in the House at Frankfort last week, was one providing for the fine of those who fail to remove their headgear in a public meeting.

THE cry now seems to be: "Give us clean streets." Not only the Civic League asks for this, but the public at large. We cannot expect to have a healthy condition without cleanliness.

THERE is a probability that the Elks' building on lower Main street will be completed sometime in the sweet-by-and-by. It was whispered that a man was seen at work there several days.

SENATOR ALDRICH, whose daughter married Rockefeller's son, sent Rockefeller a 30-cent telegram and had it charged to the government. If Mr. Rockefeller had been compelled to pay the toll he might have advanced oil another half-cent a gallon to get even, and Senator Aldrich should be thanked, not blamed, for his economical thoughtfulness.

WINCHESTER SALONISTS.—At Winchester, C. B. George & Bro., filed suit against the Mayor, City Clerk and members of the Council to compel them to grant applicants for saloon licenses. In 1896 every precinct in the city went dry by a large majority, but in 1899 North Winchester voted for saloons. When the saloonists made application for licenses they were refused and these actions are the result.

A LOCAL LODGE INTERESTED.—About thirty Parisians, members of the Lockhart Lodge, the Paris branch lodge of the National Union, are interested in the closing of the Produce Exchange Banking Co., on Friday, at Cleveland, Ohio, because of its cashier absconding with about $200,000. The National Union's treasure had $300,000 of its funds on deposit in the institution. There are 65,000 members to the National Union, and the treasurer is under $400,000 bond. ## Blood Hounds.

Efforts are being made by some of the officers and private citizens to purchase blood-hounds, mention of which has been made in these columns already. There is no question but that they are a great convenience in running down thieves and criminals, and it is to be hoped that those interesting themselves in the matter, will be successful. It is often the case that when the hounds are put on the trail of thieves, either the goods or the criminals are found. And in many cases, they are the cause of the criminal making an open confession of their guilt.

Weather For February.

February will be a month of storms—violent storms and blizzards. Wind, rain, sleet and snow will prevail, covering the entire country. The rainfall will be light and of short duration, except over the Southern and Gulf States.

Heavy rain will fall at times, but of short duration, being followed by sleet and snow and cold waves. Rain of short duration, turning to sleet and heavy snow, followed by cold waves, over the States of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Blizzards, icy blasts and intense cold will cause suffering to man and beast and serious delay to traffic from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico, causing much distress in every State. Traffic over the East, West, North, Southwest and Northwest will at times be almost suspended by several blizzards and extreme cold, and traffic over the South will be seriously crippled by rain, sleet and snow.

HIS PHILOSOPHY.

Wish I had nothin' else to do but set around an' laugh at things! The whole world's funny through an' through, from you an' me clear up to kings. You think that I am gay an' glad with not a thing to worry me; I think the outlook's pretty bad, but your good fortune I can see. Each woman sees a hat or dress that she thinks should ha' been for her—An', take it by an' large, I guess this world keeps gettin' funnier.

Each town is full o' candidates that thinks they are the people's choice. All over these United States they're harkin' for the callin' voice; An' each one wishes has to win, But, after all, it's just a dance—some goin' out, some comin' in. We know the office seeks the man, an' that is why we never fail. To try to hit upon a plan to leave a mighty well-made trail!

You worry when the agent calls to get his little monthly rent. His heart is full of disappointment fails if he finds you without a cent; We read about some millionaire who sings the joy of bein' poor. An' know of poor men everywhere who scheme to make their fortunesure. The man who has an appetite must be content plain things to eat; The rich man's in a sorry plight—his appetite he must entreat.

Wish I had nothin' else to do but set around an' laugh at things! I'd chuckle for awhile at you, an' then I'd snicker at the kings. You think it would be very fine to lol around an' wear a crown; The king is anxious to resign an' lay the heavy burden down. I'd laugh at them that wants to walk; I'd laugh at them that wants to ride; At them that talks, or doesn't talk—if I was only satisfied.

hearing his own story recited, it made him feel a kind of hero, but there was always the ever-present ache at his heart that he bought his proud position at the cost of love and fear. He was never quite one of them, but a thing apart as a man who does not know his own surname must ever be.

Mrs. Trapaud was habitually careful about money, never leaving carelessly about any sums however small. She never distrusted any of her people, but she knew the value of the axiom concerning the open door. On this particular morning, however, she rang the bell for breakfast to be cleared while the 130 sovereigns were still lying glistening in the sun upon the table.

Daniel answered the summons as usual and began to clear away. As he did so his eye fell on the money and he gave a little quick, sharp gasp. Mrs. Trapaud heard it and turned to look at him.

"Yes," she said, "it's a lot of money, isn't it, Darrel? One hundred and thirty pounds. The bay mare and her foal fetched it."

Daniel murmured some reply, and went on removing the breakfast things. Mrs. Trapaud rose, folded her napkin leisurely, and gathering up the gold pieces, crossed to the fireplace and put them in a tidy little heap on the mantelpiece. Then she walked into the conservatory that opened out of the room to see how her pointsettia was coming on. Suddenly her pulses stopped and her heart stood still to listen. She heard a voice distinctly speaking in a weird, mad whisper from the breakfast room behind.

"Make a man rich for life," it said, and repeated the phrase like a litany.

She turned.

Daniel was standing near the mantelpiece, his face white as death, great drops of sweat standing out upon his brow. His fingers twitched nervously, his eyeballs were painfully distended. Covetousness, avarice, greed, were writ large upon his countenance. He looked horrible. Instinctively Mrs. Trapaud shrank back among the greenery to watch.

"Make a man rich for life!" reiterated Daniel with a curious sibilant sound. "Make a man rich for life—rich for life!" With one swift look in the direction of the conservatory he put out his hand, and with stealthy touch noiselessly took the gold. You could have heard a pin drop. Mrs. Trapaud stepped quickly forward.

"Daniel, what are you doing? Put that money down."

She spoke sharply—peremptorily. Daniel turned. An ugly look came over his face; he was dangerous.

"Put it down this minute," she said.

"Make a man rich for life," he muttered, backing to the door.

"Daniel, are you mad? Put it down at once, I say."

She had reentered the room now and her hand was on the bell. With a quick movement Daniel reached out to the sideboard and seized a knife; in his other fist he still clutched the gold.

"I see," she said quietly. "Then we have been housing a thief and a murderer for five and 20 years."

The knife dropped from his hand. A violent trembling shook him in every limb, the wild, weird look died out of his eyes, and he stood for a moment gazing dazedly at the money in his clinched palm.

"Daniel, put it down!"

He crossed to the mantelpiece as though in a dream and put the money back where he had found it in the spirit of a little child. Then he stood there silent, his head bowed upon his breast.

"It is the first time I have ever known you drunk, Daniel," said Mrs. Trapaud, slowly. "Do not ever let me see you drunk again or I shall have to dismiss you. Now you may go."

He turned and walked slowly to the door. He had his back to her, but she could see his shoulders heave. Presently he turned again, his face still bowed upon his breast.

"God bless 'ee, mistress," he said brokenly and went out.—The Tattler.

BEAUTIFYING A STATE.

One Californian Bought Beautiful Birds and Let Them Loose in Country Around Pasadena.

Whenever I see any of these propaganda for beautifying a city," said Senator Perkins, of California, the other night, according to the New York Times, "I always think of the work done to beautify the state of California by a citizen of Altadena, which is hard by Pasadena. The man's name is Andrew McNally, and when he came to California there were few birds at Altadena, and those few were hardly what we would call beautiful. McNally made up his mind that the land needed birds, so he built him an aviary and imported many hundreds of his feathered friends. Once a year he would open the doors of his aviary and let the young birds fly whithersoever they would, and in a short time, the whole country was populated with feathered creatures of every variety of hue and song. His example was followed by Joseph Grinnell and Mrs. Grinnell, both of whom are ardent ornithologists, so that now the country around Pasadena is a garden spot for birds of beautiful plumage. Many of the birds that were imported came from Japan and China. So you see there are more ways than one of beautifying a city or a state."

One Christmas eve a quarter of a century ago the hospitable glare of a fire that not only could roast an ox, but was actually doing so, attracted a little ragged fellow who was tramping along the high road in search of a night's lodgings. One of the keepers found him in the fir plantation and dragged him after him till they stood in the glare of the firelight before Trapaud, his wife, and the assembled household. Questioned, the little fellow said his name was Daniel: he was a foundling and had been put out to service with a drunken carpenter, from whom he had run away. He had got as far north as this in a barge along the canals and had worked at whatever came to his hand for all the food and lodging that charity had not given him. Trapaud liked the lad's face and took him into his service. He was honest and industrious, he had risen by slow degrees, and now for seven years he had been butler at the hall. Daniel took a pathetic pleasure in

BRIDGING AN INLAND SEA.

Stupendous Engineering.

We have in times past been told much of wonderful feats in railroad building, and much has been written of the engineering skill and daring that directed the course of the iron horse across the plains and mountains that lie between the Missouri river and the Pacific Ocean. "In the grandeur and magnitude of the undertaking, the Union Pacific Central Pacific has never been equaled. The energy and perseverance with which the work was urged forward, and the rapidity with which it was executed, are without a parallel in history," were the statements of the special government commissioners to the Secretary of the Interior.

Thirty-five years ago there was no time to spend on work similar to that which has just been completed. Then the world was watching while the builders of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific raced for supremacy. It was a magnificent contest, but nowadays the owners of the road have been brought to consider other problems. One of these necessitated the solution of the grade question and the straightening of the track.

One of the most interesting and difficult feats of railroad engineering ever undertaken has just been completed by the owners of "The Overland Route," Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroad—the building of a bridge across the Great Salt Lake between Ogden, Utah, and Lucin, Nevada.

The work being practically completed, the new track was formally opened on Thanksgiving Day when Mr. E. H. Harriman, head of the Harriman Lines, and a big party of railroad magnates partook of Thanksgiving Day dinner in the middle of Great Salt Lake.

The Overland "Cut Off" is 102 miles in length, 72 miles on land and 30 miles on trestle work and fills over the waters of Great Salt Lake. It presents a practically level track except for a short distance on the west end near Lucin, Nevada, where a slight grade is encountered.

The use of this cut off will throw out the trans-continental traffic over the old line from Ogden to Lucin, Nevada, around the lake. This strip of track is one of the most expensive of the Harriman system, the maximum grade over the long Promontory hill is 104 feet to the mile and helper engines are always necessary. The elimination of the use of these engines will mean the saving of at least $1,500.00 a day in operating expenses and also a saving of several hours in running time.

Active work was commenced in 1902, and thus the almost impossible task was completed in about 22 months. The last pile was driven during the last week of October. This great work has cost over $4,200,000.00.

The cut off runs from Ogden west 15 miles over level country before reaching the lake project, then across the east arm of the lake 9 miles to Promontory. Then five miles of solid road bed, and then 19 miles west over the west arm of the lake toward Lucin and thence across the Great Salt Lake Desert to Lucin, Nevada. Across the east arm of the lake, it will be almost a continuous fillin supported by trestle. Near the middle of this will be a gap of 600 feet of open trestle work left for the waters of the Bear river which flow into the arm of the lake.

Across Promontory Point runs five miles of solid road bed and here difficult work was encountered. A cut of 3,000 feet long in sand and rock of barren bluff being necessary. At this point, the most beautiful on this inland sea, surveys have been made for an immense summer resort.

Across the west arm of the lake is 11 miles of trestle work with a fillin approach at each end of four miles. In completing the work of spanning the lake, one great difficulty was encountered across the east arm by the settling of fillins and trestle work. This was caused by the salt of the floor of the Bear river having collected for centuries over the bottom of the lake and having formed a salt wall of 100 feet. It took 1,000 tons of rock in piles which appear to have reached the bottom of the lake proper and which has resulted in a firm and splendid road bed.

In a speech which he made at the Alta Club, Salt Lake City, on the eve of the opening of the "Cut Off," Mr. Harriman said:

"The completion of this undertaking will reduce the distance between San Francisco and Salt Lake by 41 miles, and will eventually bring the time between the two cities down to 22 hours."

"It is intended to reduce the running time from Salt Lake to Chicago to 36 hours, and put passengers into New York in 56 hours from Salt Lake."

"These two railroads—Union Pacific and Southern Pacific—have spent in the last three years somewhere near $130,000,000.00 in repairs and improvements aside from the expenses of operation or maintenance."

Not Without Distinction.

A note of family pride was struck in the conversation between three small Reading boys the other day. The parts played by their respective grandfathers in the civil war were being depicted by two of the boys in vivid colors. The career of each, it seemed, had been halted by confinement in southern prisons, and it was on the latter fact that the lads laid particular stress. The third youth, unable to match these recitals with any military achievement of his own forefathers, preserved an envious silence for a while, and then, not to be outdone, said, dismally: "Why, that's not so much. My Uncle Bill was in jail a long time, and he was never in the army at all."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Billion Dollar Grass and Alfalfa.

When we introduced this remarkable grass three years ago, little did we dream it would be the most talked of grass in America, the biggest, quick, hay producer of earth, but this has come to pass.

Ag. Editors wrote about it, Agr. Institutes Orators talked about it, while in the fair house by the quiet fireside, in the corner grocery, in the village post-office, at the creamery, at the depot, far and wide, ever farmer gathered, Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass that wonderful grass, good for 5 to 14 tons per acre, and lots of pasture besides, is always a theme worthy of the farmer's voice.

A. Walford, Westmore Farms, Pa., writes: "I have 60 acres in Salzer's Alfalfa Clover. It is immense. I cut three crops this season and have lots of pasture besides."

FOR INJURED ANIMALS.

Book of West Philadelphia Physician Which Will Deal with Treatment of Common Accidents.

A West Philadelphia physician is writing an interesting and valuable little book that he intends to call "First Aid to Injured Animals." The book deals with the treatment of the common accidents that happen to dogs and cats and horses. It shows how 50 per cent. of the deaths that occur among domestic animals are due to the mistaken treatment that these animals receive in the interim between their falling ill and the veterinary surgeon's arrival. The physician said the other day: "Take the case of a valuable dog, for instance. Dogs frequently choke. A bone, a nail or a piece of tin gets in their throat and there is great danger of their dying before the surgeon comes. Many of them do die, but there is no reason for this. For it is easy, without the slightest danger of being bitten, to put the hand in the mouth of a dog and to draw out or push down the obstruction that is killing him. A bandage—a handkerchief or towel will do—is passed between the teeth and over the upper jaw, and in a similar way another bandage is passed between the teeth and over the under jaw. One person holding the ends of two bandages keeps the dog's mouth wide open; a second puts his fingers down the animal's throat and relieves him. There are hundreds of emergencies like this one—just as dangerous and just as easily treated. In my book it is my purpose to describe all these emergencies and thus I hope to save many animals' lives."

SLAIN IN MAN'S GARB.

Countess D'Ivry Meets Accidental Death in Paris—Concealed Sexto Escape Public Gaze.

Countess Diane Ogier d'Ivry, the beautiful young daughter of Count Ogr d'Ivry, died in a hospital in Paris recently as the result of being injured while out driving in the guise of a man. Her identity was concealed for a time by the fact that she wore a man's clothes.

A pony cart, driven apparently by a handsomely dressed young man, accompanied by a groom, collided with a heavy vehicle near the Avenue Bois de Boulogne.

The handsome driver was removed to a hospital and placed in the male ward. The doctors were preparing for an operation when they found the injured person to be a woman. She was removed to the female ward and was identified as the daughter of Count Ogr d'Ivry. A medical examination disclosed that her skull was fractured in three places and she died the next morning.

The countess was 20 years of age and her blonde hair was cut short. It is explained that she was in the habit of assuming male attire to avoid attracting the attention of men.

Successfully Grafted a New Lip.

Dr. C. S. Durand, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has just completed a surgical operation which has caused considerable comment. The operation was performed upon Charles Skillern. The dreaded malady, cancer, had destroyed the whole lower lip. Dr. Durand took the case under treatment and successfully grafted a new lip from the inner side of Mr. Skillern's cheeks. Mr. Skillern was out on the streets after a confinement of a few weeks, and the results of the operation are scarcely noticeable.

Will Have No Applications.

That eminent Spaniard who offered $10,000 for the Spanish general who would invade the United States would have been safe in making it a million, says the Chicago News.

Barnstaple Fair.

An annual fair at Barnstaple, England, has been held for hundreds of years. It was originally held in July, but the time was altered to September by a charter granted by Queen Mary. Barnstaple fair is inaugurated with a ceremony in the town hall, where a special meeting of the town council is held and spiced ale and toast (prepared in the council chamber by the headles and mace bearers) are dispensed to all who crowd the building. Appropriate toasts are proposed and speeches made by the local member of parliament and others, after which the mayor proceeds in procession to three points of the town, at each of which is read his proclamation opening the fair and enjoining all concerned to keep the peace during its continuance. Not until this ceremony has been performed can the business and fun of the fair proceed. On the inauguration of the fair a huge stuffed white glove, adorned with flowers, is thrust on a pole from one of the upper windows of the town hall and remains in evidence during the continuance of the festival as the symbol of open handed welcome.

Went Back on His Authority.

Freeman, the historian, was naturally familiar in the spirit to readers of the Saturday Review. In the flesh Mr. Leslie Stephen's single meeting with the historian was in the nature of a collision.

"I came in contact with him only once, and at a later period. He wrote a life of Alfred for the Dictionary of National Biography under my editorship, but declined to do more because we had a difference of opinion as to whether Athelstan should be spelled with an 'A.' That was, I confess, a question to which I was culpably indifferent, but I had taken competent advice, and my system (I forget what it was) had been elsewhere sanctioned by the great historian Stubbs. Now, as Freeman was never tired of asserting the infallibility of Stubbs, I innocently thought that I might take refuge behind so eminent an authority. The result was that for once Freeman blasphemed Stubbs and refused to cooperate any longer in an unscholarlike enterprise."

The Druggist Lost In Ibsen.

Some one in Scandinavia unearthed the report of the examiners on Dr. Ibser's papers at his examination for the degree of bachelor. It runs as follows:

Norwegian, good; Latin prose, good; Latin essay, fairly good; Latin conversation, moderate; Greek, bad; arithmetic, bad; German, very good; French, good; religious knowledge, good; history and geography, good; Hebrew, good; geometry, good. General remarks: A young man not to be despised.

In spite of many "goods," however, Ibser was plowed owing to his deficiencies in Greek and arithmetic. He aspired in those days to be a pharmaceutical chemist and, failing to satisfy the examiners, had to seek some other opening in life.

The Primitive Clock.

A naturalist, while visiting Great San gir, one of those islands of the Indian ocean known as the Celebes or Spice Islands, found a curious time recorder lodged at the house of a rajah. Two bottles were firmly lashed together and fixed in a wooden frame. A quantity of black sand ran from one bottle into the other in just half an hour, and when the upper bottle was empty the frame was reversed. Twelve short sticks, marked with notches from one to twelve, were hung upon a string. A hook was placed between the stick bearing the number of notches corresponding to the hour last struck and the one to be struck next. The sentry announced the time by striking the hours on a large gong.

Rebuked.

Hoffmann, the German physicist, arrived in Glasgow late one Saturday night and on Sunday morning went to call on Lord Kelvin.

The doorbell was answered by a woman servant, whom Hoffmann asked if Sir William was at home.

The servant answered, "Sir, he most certainly is not."

Hoffmann then asked, "Could you tell me where I could find him?"

"Sir," she answered, "you will find him at church, where you ought to be!"

"Do It To-Day."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'till to-morrow what you can do today," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it to-day!" That is the tease advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demolishing cold, with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it to day—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschree's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No<sup>t</sup> matter how deep-seated your cough, even if<sup>t</sup> dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.—W. T. Brooks.
